advance planting, under planting

30. October 2025

Introduction of tree species by planting or seeding that have an age and growth advantage over later regeneration, for example, beech or fir regeneration, often carried out as part of forest conversion to establish mixed stands.