allocation

30. October 2025

Distribution of a limited resource used by an organism among different forms of utilization, e.g. the distribution of carbon or biomass among various parts of a plant (roots, stem, leaves), which varies depending on light availability.