increment

30. October 2025

The increase in diameter, basal area, height, and volume of a tree or stand over a given period as a result of growth. The volume increment of a stand is the most important indicator of its productivity.