natural forest

30. October 2025

Forest area withdrawn from silvicultural management for the study of natural forest dynamics. Other terms include protected forest, total reserve, natural forest reserve, natural forest cell, or process protection area. Natural forests primarily serve the protection and scientific study of self-regulating forests, as well as education and environmental awareness. Silvicultural interventions are excluded in these areas.