yield, growth capacity

30. October 2025

The forestry productivity of a site or forest stand is reflected in its yield. The total yield of a stand is the sum of the existing timber stock and all intermediate harvests (thinnings) from the establishment of the stand up to the time of assessment.